1. Introduction

It is to be recalled that in ASYCUDA++ we have created many CPC in line with the regime codes for the statistical information and special tax calculation purposes. Now, in eCMS the former standard is replaced by the new accepted International standard to meet the present situation of the world trade activity.

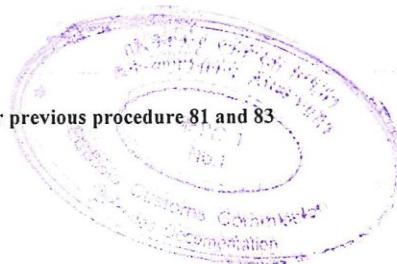

Customs procedures have three main divisions. These division procedures are termed as transit procedures, warehousing procedures and clearance procedures. Each division procedures are also further classified into small declaration model categories. These declaration models are combination of letters and numbers_alpha numerical systems, for instance IM4. Among other codes, Customs Procedure Codes (CPC) is the one used to describe the procedures and/or regimes to which goods are to be entered and from which they have been removed. The CPC signals to the system whether the declaration is for an import, an export, transit, warehousing or any other circumstance possible in a Customs environment. The Code identifies by the system how the data input from the declaration is to be handled and how the declaration is to be processed.

2. The Objectives of the Manual

The purpose of this manual is to make clear how customs Procedure Codes (CPC) are being applied in customs procedures. Therefore, it will help the users to easily distinguish to set CPC for each declaration lodgment. This CPC Manual on 'Customs Procedure codes' is largely categorized as:-

- Model of declaration;
- General Customs Procedure;
- Requested Procedure;
- Previous Procedure;
- Extended Procedure Code;
- Additional Procedure Code.
- CPC structures
- Correlation between EPC and APC

3. Legislations

The customs commission is already established by proclamation 1097/2018 following the organizational and structural change in the federal governmental executive organs. In accordance with this proclamation, council of ministers has issued regulation 437/2018 to define power and duties of the commission. In this regulation customs commission has the right and responsibility to prepare and implement the necessary customs procedure for import, export and goods on transit. The WCO's Revised Kyoto Convention (RKC) also provides the basis for the concept of Customs procedures offering specific guidelines as to their scope and application. Customs commission, therefore, to clarify and modify the previous customs procedures (CPC) manual that was prepared in 2012 E.C, this new modified manual has prepared.

4. Customs Procedure Codes/CPC/

4.1 Definition

Customs Procedure Code (CPC) is a seven digit code used to describe the procedure code and/ or regime under which goods are being entered into and from which they have been disposed. The CPC tells to the system whether the declaration is for an import, an export, transit, warehousing or any other circumstance possible in a Customs environment. The Customs Procedure Code tells to the system how the data input from the declaration is to be handled and how the declaration is to be processed.

4.2 The Purposes of Customs Procedure Codes – “CPCs”

The customs procedure code has a supreme importance on facilitation of trade and on overall treatment of import and export goods. Some of the purpose of the CPC includes:

- facilitating assessment and revenue collection
- provision of detailed information
- securing the highest degree of harmony and uniformity in customs systems;
- standardizing, simplifying and harmonizing procedures and documents
- facilitating exchange of information and data
- enabling encoding into the computer system
- aligning with the international coding structure
- identifying the procedures under which the goods are imported, exported or to be placed under another customs procedure
- Easing the accumulation of statistical information.

4.3 Formation

The eCMS procedure codes are made up of two elements. Namely, Extended Procedure Code (EPC) and additional procedure codes (APC). The extended Procedure code contains 4 digits. It is the standard and the main part of the customs procedure. The National Procedure Code (another name for APC) contains 3 digits and this code is mostly used for statistical purpose and to define a special taxation and exemption. For example, Entry for home use has an Extended Procedure Code 4000 and National Procedure code 000. It implies that all taxes are applicable to the imported goods and services.

4.4 CPC Structures

Customs Procedure Codes are structured using seven numerical characters. Starting from the first digit - the highest (or broadest) level/ General Procedure code/ and working down, the seven character code numbers can be constructed and linked to pre-programmed System 'Actions', (such as procedures for temporary imports or warehousing), or to allow for specific taxation treatments. By using precisely defined CPCs, special taxation outcomes can be managed by writing individual taxation rules, linked directly to the CPC to recap,

- The CPC is based on a 7-character code. The first group of 2 numbers is the Requested Procedure. This is Customs method of treatment of the goods that is being requested / asked. The second group of 2 numbers is the Previous Procedure. This represents the previous Customs procedure, if any, under which the goods were entered or exited.
- The Requested Procedure plus the Previous Procedure = the Extended Procedure
- In addition, special national situations such as refund, etc. are managed by use of a 3 - character National Code.

4.5 Model (type) of Declaration

Model of declaration is a table that links each CPC to the respective declaration category. By using this link, the descriptions on screen (and on the declaration) take an import or export format. The model of declaration screen allows description of the model type to be defined for display to users. For example, IM4 is Import declaration, direct import and sets an alphanumeric character as a prefix for the reference and assessment series.

When inputting data from a manual declaration in to ASYCUDA ++ modules or CMS (MODCBR) the type of Declaration should be specified. The first numeric character of the CPC signifies the general procedure code. This is an internationally agreed standard.

Before inputting data from a manual declaration into eCMS the type of Declaration should be specified. The Type of declaration is almost the same as the Customs regime code in eCMS i.e. Import 4, Export 1, WHS (Suspense) 7 and Transit T.

In eCMS declaration information is captured using the type of declaration. The following table shows the Standard Model of the Declaration.

The Previous Procedure, which comprises the 3rd and 4th of the 4 digits, that represents any previous customs procedure code for goods cleared in the preceding customs declaration.

Example: If goods are entered under temporary importation in unaltered state the Extended Procedure Code 5100

N.B: what is written for previous procedure 00 works for previous procedure 81 and 83

Previous Procedure code: 00 no Previous Procedure (3rd and 4th)

Then,

Requested Procedure code: 30 Re- exportation

Previous Procedure code: 51 previously temporarily imported

4.7 Additional Procedure Codes (National Procedure Codes)

The Additional Procedure Codes consists of 3 digits and it's an extension of the standard procedure. The former ASYCUDA++ CPC has no letter as a prefix but now the industrial parks additional procedure codes have letters as a prefix. So now, there is a need to add letters for the industrial procedure codes in addition to the numbers for their appropriate extended procedure code.

For example goods imported under the industrial park procedure has a CPC 505 or 506 in a previous version but in eCMS the full procedure code is 5200R06. Therefore, users are requested to refer to the correlation table which shows the link between the old and new Procedure codes.

4.8 Changes

The CPC's are the core elements of the Customs Declaration which makes the declaration to be payable or exempted from Customs duty and other taxes. The Improved Customs Procedure Code has followed the international standard and practice to meet the requirements needed in eCMS in addition to the standard procedure code, the Additional Procedure Codes (APC) have also been integrated for statistical and taxation purpose.

The additional procedure codes previously used for importation of public and private investments are further classified as per Ethiopian standard industrial classification and privileges stipulated in the investment proclamations and regulations. Hence, the additional procedure codes 440 and 441 are replaced by various new additional procedure codes. Generally the following changes were done to the previous manual

1. The extended procedure code 1040 is replaced by new extended procedure code 3040 to align with the re-exportation procedure, (as explained in the previous manual).
